An Inclusive Community

We have a longstanding commitment to equity, which includes providing curricula, class and school libraries that highlight and value the contributions and traditions of diverse racial and ethnic groups, family structures, sexual orientations and gender identities. We are also proud to have a faculty whose identities mirror our students and a policy of immediately addressing incidents of bias with the goal of both repairing harm and educating those who cause the harm. To support our efforts, we have an Equity and Anti-racist Committee of family and staff members as well as multiple affinity groups.

Kindergarten

Crocker Highlands uses what we call “Balanced Beginnings.” Kindergarten students will be temporarily assigned to a group that will travel together to each of the kindergarten classrooms for the first three days. This will give the teachers and principal an opportunity to get to know all of the students a little bit, making it easier to create balanced classes. Group assignments will be provided when you register. Final class assignments are communicated, in the evening, on the third day school.
